JUDGMENT AFFIRMED.

Plaintiff Gets Damages for Alleged Permanent Injuries.

The judgment of the lower court in awarding Milton Jackson $1,999.99 damages against the L. & N. Railroad was affirmed. The plaintiff was a freight conductor for some time in charge of the train running between Clarksville and Gracey, and while coupling cars stepped on a pinch bar and fell under the train, receiving permanent injuries. The court held that while the station agent was guilty of neglect, in not keeping obstacles off of the company's tracks, and thus made them liable for an action for damages, he was not a fellow servant with the conductor, as plaintiff's counsel affirmed.

REVERSED.

Morrison Murder Case Remanded for New Hearing.

Defendant Had Been Improperly Forced to Exhaust Two of His Challenges.

The Supreme Court of Tennessee has granted a new trial in the case of Will Morrison, of the Pembroke neighborhood, convicted of the murder of Douglass Kaufman, of Slaughtersville, and sentenced to be hanged. In the brief the attorneys for the defendant claimed that the killing was done in self-defense, and that the judge had forced four men on the jury who had made up their minds by reading a newspaper account of the homicide. The court held that the act of 1899, which made such men competent for jury service, was not unconstitutional, as counsel claimed. They thought it a very wise law. The other plea was that the Circuit Judge was in error in disregarding six challenges after the defendant had exhausted his constitutional number. No court, said Judge Beard, can nominate for jury service one who has a cause pending at that time of court or who has already had a case tried. This is done to prevent collusion among the jurors, and on the Morrison jury there were four such.

The decision of the court was that the defendant had been improperly forced to exhaust two of his challenges. So the decision of the Circuit Court was reversed, and the case remanded for a new hearing.

The killing occurred at Springfield, Tenn., in the Christmas of 1899, and Morrison was tried at that place last spring. He was sentenced to be hanged, and the date of execution set for August 10. The case was taken to the Supreme Court and the opinion reversing the Circuit Court was delivered Saturday. As there was some talk of a mob the prisoner was taken to Nashville shortly after the killing, where he has since been confined in jail, except during the trial.

Mr. J. B. Allensworth, of this city, is one of the attorneys for Morrison, and at the trial made a speech for his client, which was highly complimented, both by the bar at Springfield and the press of that place.

FATAL FIGHT

Takes Place at Church Meeting in Trigg.

One Member Stabs Another in the Back and Knife Penetrates Hollow.

The row at a colored church meeting at Rocky Ridge, Trigg county, on Sunday, the 10th inst., had a fatal termination. The matter of employing a preacher for the year was being considered by some of the members when the proceedings were interrupted by other members and the lie was passed. William Faulkner then rolled up his sleeves and went after Fields Hopson, his brother in the church, striking several blows. Hopson succeeded in drawing his knife and stabbed Faulkner in the back several times. The men were finally separated and the meeting proceeded to its conclusion without further disturbance. Faulkner's wounds were dressed and it was not thought that he was very badly wounded, but it developed that the knife had penetrated the hollow, and death resulted last Thursday.

TWO SUITS AGAINST I. C.

Plaintiffs Allege They Were Injured at Princeton.

Mrs. Hallie C. Gilson, of Todd county, has filed suit here against the I. C. railroad company for $1,999.99. Mrs. Gilson alleges in her petition that she was on the I. C. passenger train coming to Hopkinsville from Paducah on the 6th inst., and had to change cars at Princeton. An employee of the road, she says, cried: "All out for Princeton." As she arose from her seat to put on her cloak, the train came to a sudden standstill, and she was thrown with great force to the floor, being hurt internally, and sustaining injuries that, she claims, are of a permanent nature. She states that her injuries are due to the recklessness and carelessness of the company's agents.

Mr. Thos. J. McReynolds has filed a similar suit against the company, alleged that he was injured at the same time and place, one rib being broken. He sues for $1,000 damages.

ABANDONMENT CHARGED.

More Divorce Suits Filed With Circuit Clerk.

Two divorce suits were filed with the Circuit Clerk last Friday. The first is that of Rosa L. Howard against Sam Howard and abandonment is charged. They were married in 1898 and lived together until 1899, says the petition. Plaintiff further states that defendant is now in Evansville, Ind., for the purpose of evading arrest and prosecution on an indictment found here for unlawfully detaining a female under sixteen years of age.

The second petition is that of Allen Day, Jr., against Susie Day. Abandonment is also the charge in this suit. The parties were married in 1892 and lived together less than a year, it is alleged. The parties are colored.
